

Commissioner Sandy Murman recently attended Tampa Bay Wave's Pitch Night at The Verve Lounge in the SunTrust building in downtown Tampa. "I look around this room and I see the future of our county," said Commissioner Murman. "Please stay here after you make your millions. Please keep your businesses here, because we're going to have plenty of students coming out of USF and everywhere to fill your jobs." The seven companies will get another chance to pitch at Wave's Demo Day, which will take place Jan. 23, 2019 at the Synapse Summit at Amalie Arena.

**Avoid online shopping scams during this holiday season**

Florida CFO Jimmy Patronis has some good advice when it comes to avoiding holiday online shopping scams. During the 2018 holiday season, online shopping scams are projected to increase by 14 percent. When shopping online it is important to be on the lookout for anything that does not look legitimate. For more information, click on the headline above.

**Build consensus for water plan to benefit Tampa Bay region**

A plan by the city of Tampa to convert highly treated wastewater into drinking water would benefit the economy and the environment of the entire Tampa Bay region.
